

I provide models of 100 or so different marine animals, & coloring sheets to match. Kids are freed of the anxiety of drawing, & can observe the colors & textures of the animals quite closely. In this case, a second-grader named Zak noted the barnacles on the humpback whale. (He drew the seaweed in green; the yellow tint is a problem with my scanner).