

I asked the kids to paint something they like about the ocean. Many were inspired by my story about a sea serpent.